The organically curved plastic moulded shell seat with clear and flowing lines makes Nava an elegant and comfortable chair which sits well in any environment, be it the home or restaurants. When you lean back, the backrest yields agreeably, affording a high degree of comfort even when sitting for long periods. It is made of post-consumer recycled material (with the exception of the non-upholstered versions in black, white, steel blue and silver). The seat shell can be fitted with a seat cushion or upholstered in the linear or contoured fully cushioned options, which lend the chair a particularly homely character. Nava is available with a stackable four-legged frame with or without armrests, a skid frame, as a swivel chair or a wooden frame. The skid frame is available in both low and high versions, allowing Nava to be used for standing tables or at kitchen counters too. It is possible to create a number of individual styles with Nava thanks to the wide variety of frame, material and upholstery options available.
